The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

As "America's Finest City Week" gets underway in San Diego tomorrow, its sponsors should take a severe look at an element tarnishing its image.

By now, it should have dawned on interested parties that the San Diego International Sports Arena has become a cactus in the otherwise Elysian meadows of sports, recreation and tourism.

The Arena, presently, isn't adding to the "Finest City" concept.

The spotlight is focused on that facility for several reasons: One, is that Dr. Leonard Bloom, owner of one ice skating arena with another under construction, has announced that he will build a 20,000-seat competitive facility to house his new ABA basketball team, the San Diego Conquistadors.

The second reason is a fallout from the first. If he is encouraged to build a facility for basketball, it is an almost certainty that it will house other activities, some of which are now in the SDISA. While Peter Graham, the master leaseholder of SDISA is reputed to have huge stacks of money stashed about, he might elect to turn the Arena back to SDISA bondholders, and they to the City of San Diego, if it becomes a big money loser.

At this point the City might find itself in the awkward position of possessing a tenantless facility. Facing a capable adversary such as Dr. Bloom, it is unlikely that it could be operated profitably for its specified purpose ever again. The City could tear it down and use the valuable land for another purpose, but all of that waste seems shameful.

We urge that the City enter negotiations with Peter Graham with the objective of putting the Arena in public ownership. There is no indication that Graham would. There is no indication that he would not. But as a man not embarrassed by a profit and faced with growing problems at the Arena, he might. If he turned a small profit in the transaction he could avert the stigma among family and friends of making a bad investment. The public, as buyers, would not be any the worse for it.

If it reverted to the City after Bloom built his facility, it would be a losing proposition and it would probably be demolished. That would cost money, too. Whatever is done should be done now while the facility is still in good shape.

Profitable operation is predicated on keeping present occupants, acquiring the Conquistadors as rent-paying tenants, and others. But good operation apparently won't come under Graham. Imagine, if you will, the ludicrous situation in which the college basketball team plays in the Arena, and the professional team plays in the college's gymnasium. Even Ripley wouldn't believe that!

Graham is pragmatic enough to recognize the growing hazards. It is no secret that his high demands caused the GOP Convention to shift to Florida. Dr. Bloom was not able to negotiate a lease that was less than twice as much as the next highest lease arrangement in the ABA hoop league and the Gulls had to hike prices to meet new, higher demands. Although Graham announced at the Sportscasters/Sportswriters meeting last week that the Arena "was in the black" he must be concerned about other matters that will bear on his profit posture. He could lose the Kiwanis Convention penciled in for 1976. He could lose the NCAA Basketball Championship anticipated here in 1975, and there's the Junior Chamber of Commerce Convention listed for 1974. Losing these conventions would also injure the many hotel-motel operators who are still suffering aftershocks of the GOP pull-out earthquake.

Assuming that Graham would negotiate and the City didn't want to operate the facility, it could be transferred to the County. The County could obtain it on the premise that Arena events are universal in appeal to the entire county populace.

How could the transfer be made? By trading 40 acres of County land for the Arena's 40 acres. The County would benefit from tax income and both City and County would now be protecting their tourism revenue.

No matter who operates the Arena, there is a problem that will be dealt with sooner or later as public indignation grows—but it will come as a shock when it happens.

Some Arena attractions, expressly those built around rock music, are attracting youngsters who come to smoke pot and pop pills. Police are not enforcing narcotics laws vigorously, probably in the interest of averting actions that would cut into Arena revenues.

Nor are the City Fire laws being enforced as scores of youngsters occupy aisles when more popular attractions sell out. Enforcement would seriously hurt the Arena's income whether Graham, City or County owned it.

With the City's image at stake; with tourism endangered to the degree that conventions are lost; with the thrust stemming from national, state, city and county governments for more recreational facilities for the masses, public ownership of the Arena makes sense.

County ownership is more of an emotional matter. The County could make additional claims to recreational fame with the Arena to match the City's Stadium in the parks and recreational racket.

If it boils down to just one person doing the negotiating with Graham—one person as opposed to a faceless City (we saw this take place when Bob Breitbard wanted to negotiate), who could better do it than Richard Silberman, with a reputation as a negotiation-minded banker and a successful track record in both the banking business and the sports world?

All options considered, we think it's worth a try and the time is now!

Pay Hike Talks Reach Impasse

Negotiations have broken down between the administration of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District and the district teachers regarding a pay increase for the teachers this year.

Teachers are seeking a 4.5 per cent pay hike, while the administration has offered a 3.6 per cent increase.

The result of the deadlock has resulted in the teachers asking for a three-man fact finding panel to study negotiations. Fred Kerth, chairman agreed upon.

Plans To Seek San Diego Park Site Scrapped By L.G. Planners

Smaller Lemon Grove Site Chances Good

SEASONAL PROBLEM — Local fire fighting units get plenty of exercise at about this time every year, when the hard-hitting combination of hot dry weather and children out of school results in numerous grass fires. Lemon Grove firemen don't have the serious problem as in years past, as the area is built up and there are fewer grassy areas, according to Captain Robert Adams. Spring Valley, however, still has many rough areas, according to fireman Paul Wieland, who said that grass fires are the major source of his work during the summer. During the winter, he said, structure and vehicle fires are more prevalent. Pictured above are men involved in fighting a small blaze in the Casa de Oro area.

Plans of the Lemon Grove would not be available for the Planning Association to seek sites, but went ahead and encouraged the meeting anyway. Also in attendance at the meeting was Bob Devine, Supervisor Henry Boney's administrative assistant, who were foiled last week at a meeting of the association.

Over objections by members of the Association's Parks and Recreation subcommittee, Ed Moses, Park Development Director for the County's Public Works Agency, told those at the meeting that HUD is terminating its open-space program and that selection of sites for the future should be dropped.

He also said that the original request for 1972 funds from the association for a 6 1/2-acre site at Massachusetts and Berry st. had received approval of HUD, contingent upon the forming of a county service area to raise matching funds.

The 19-acre site, which the association decided to seek, is unfeasible, as application for a grant to develop the site has not been made, because it was impossible to get appraisals and other necessary information in time.

This information led to comments from some in attendance that the county was "railroading" their desires, expecting the planning association to act as a "rubber stamp" for action already taken by county agencies.

Further, the park and recreation subcommittee spent three hours last week in a meeting to make recommendations for future park sites.

Members of the subcommittee felt that the county already knew that HUD funds of the proposed 19-acre site and re-directed the association's efforts toward the Berry st. site.

Under the HUD program, federal funds are granted on a matching funds basis with money raised at the local level, which means that the county service area will raise money for half the costs, while federal funds cover the remaining costs.

The next meeting of the executive committee of the planning association will be next Thursday at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Golden Avenue School.

College Board OK's Second Campus Site

Rancho San Diego officials and the Grossmont Community College District have reached an agreement for the purchase of 165 acres for the construction of a second campus.

Negotiations on the property were stalled for the past few months but last week the agreement was reached. The major problem in negotiations was reportedly where the campus would be located, rather than the price.

The college district will pay 23% of the site costs, with state funding to cover the remainder. The state had previously allocated $957,642 for the project, which put somewhat of a freeze on the price the district would be able to pay.

At a meeting of the district board of governors Monday night, trustees authorized the agreement and ok'd a recommendation by Superintendent Robert Burnham to enter into escrow through the Security Title Insurance Company of San Diego.

The site for the proposed $20 million campus will be at the intersection of Route 94 and Route 54 in Spring Valley, the center of the proposed Rancho San Diego community, which will house an expected 70,000 residents when completed in the 1980's.

The school, when completely constructed, will house 10,000 students. Although that mark is not expected to be reached until 1983, construction part in "Comic-con".

Project Funding Announced

Chairmen Recruited For Local United Crusade

Lemon Grove's United Crusade chairman Robert L. Rita Wells of 3833 Costabella, Guest, branch manager of the United States National Bank, announced this week the recruitment of his community vice-chairman and four division chairmen.

"My greatest plus this year," said Guest, "just has to be the willingness of last year's chairman Jim Boyd to serve as my community vice-chairman. His knowledge and experience will be invaluable to this year's drive". Boyd is owner of the State Farm Insurance Agency at 7752 Broadway.

With a community all-time high goal of $12,415, each division chairman has a major responsibility to raise a considerable increase over last year's total.

Co-chairman of the important business division will be Rita Wells of 3833 Costabella, and John Owen of Owen Motors at 6867 Federal blvd. This division includes some 200 firms and has been given a goal of $1,000.

James Frederickson, assistant manager of the Lemon Grove United States National Bank, will serve as chairman of the public service division which includes education, government and hospitals. The goal figure here is $5,675.

Sandwich Gone From Ice Box

A phantom "sandwich-napper" is on the loose in Lemon Grove, according to Sheriff's Deputy Bud Fusaro, who is "investigating" the baffling disappearance of a sandwich from the Lemon Grove office refrigerator.

The victim in the case, Fusaro indicated, is Nancy Handley, an employee at the Lemon Grove Office. The victim reportedly placed the sandwich in the refrigerator at 8:30 a.m., but when she went to get it at noon, it was gone.

No prints were taken off the refrigerator handle, but a description of the sandwich was offered by Deputy Bob "Catfish" Williams: "It was a delicious bologna and cheese sandwich, with mustard on a hot dog bun," he said.

Williams claimed that the chief suspect in the case is the "Man From Glad", as the item was wrapped in a "Glad Bag."

Fusaro, meanwhile, was trying to figure out how Williams knew the description of the sandwich so well although he claimed to never have seen it, and how Williams knew it was delicious.

Cartoonists Plan Convention Here

The Third Annual West Coast Comic Convention will be held Friday through Sunday at El Cortez hotel.

There will be free movies, art shows and exhibits. Rare and valuable old comics, sci-fi material and other collector's items will be offered or sale in a dealer's room.

Last year 800 persons took part in "Comic-con".

Volunteers Sought For Jerry Lewis Telethon

Volunteers are being sought to help with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Weekend Telethon in San Diego, it was announced by David S. Moore, President of San Diego County Chapter, Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc.

"We need men, women, and young adults, to perform a variety of services in connection with the 20-hour show to be seen in San Diego on KFMB TV, channel 8," Moore said.

A distinguishing feature of the Jerry Lewis Telethon this year is the emphasis it will place on the local scene with KFMB cutting away from the network every hour to introduce citizens and dignitaries of San Diego County.

Last year the Telethon, seen over a smaller network, brought in a record-breaking $8,300,000 which has gone toward MDAA's program of patient and community services and to help finance its worldwide program of scientific research.

Volunteers are needed for the Telethon, to man telephones, to serve as hosts and hostesses for guest relations, as typists, clerks, messengers and chauffeurs. Those who wish to volunteer their services should call 291-4555.

Church Plans Picnic

Vista La Mesa Christian Church members will meet August 20 at Colina del Sol Park for an "all church picnic".

The picnic will be following the regular service, and transportation from the church will be provided for those who need rides.

Each person will bring food and table service, while coffee, cake, and punch will be provided.

Members Added By L.G. Chamber

Two new members brought the total membership of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce to 149, it was announced last week.

The new ones are Owen Motors and S.D. Trust and Savings Bank.

Helen Meyers, chamber secretary, who is splitting time between the chamber office and jury duties, said the "local" telephone book, anticipated last year, is now being circulated. The directory was originally planned for Lemon Grove only but has been expanded to cover the east county.

Lemon Grove maps, paid for by local advertisers, are still available free of charge at the Chamber office, 3415 Imperial ave.

Appeals of Appraisals Available

Citizens who think their property was appraised higher than the actual market value by the County Assessor can do something about it.

The County's Assessment Appeals Board conducts hearings to make sure everyone is treated fairly. Applications to be heard are available in Room 306 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway, according to Mrs. Porter D. Cremans, Clerk of the Assessment Appeals Board.

Mrs. Cremans said that during the hearing the board is interested in knowing what you would accept for your property if it were for sale, the highest and best use of the property, what it is used for, potential uses, and physical characteristics.

"The best ways to establish the value of your property are sales of comparable property, cost of construction if it is quite new, or income from the property if that is what it's used for," Mrs. Cremans said.

Each application must be made by the person affected or his agency. Mrs. Cremans said if the agent is other than an attorney licensed to practice in California or certain family members, written authorization must be filed with the application. She said applications for corporations must be filed by an officer of the corporation.

Mrs. Cremans explains that after an application is filed, she will notify the applicant of the date of the hearing to be held in the county Administration Center. Notice is at least 30 days before the hearing date, unless a shorter time is agreed to by the applicant and the Assessor.

Filings for assessment appeals may be made anytime before September 15.

Foster Parents Plan Dime-a-Dip Dinner

San Diego County Foster Parents Assn. is sponsoring a "dime-a-dip" dinner to raise operating funds.

The function will be held Sept. 5 at 6:30 in the Probation Department building at 1731 Euclid ave., in the FedCo Shopping Center.

All foster parents and persons interested in the Association are invited. Donations of food and money are welcomed. Proceeds will be used for the Association's operational activities, according to Trudy Bomer, a SDCFAA official.

She may be reached at 463-8587.

called Juni-hioe, which means twelve unlined kimono. At right, the Wakashu yori (young warrior) costume, often worn by 11- or 12-year-old aristocratic generals, is conspicuous in brilliant red armor, worn over garments of luxurious material, for if they were to die in battle they wanted to give a lasting impression of refinement and dignity.

Traffic, Accidents Due Over Holiday Weekend

"Labor Day weekend is no different from any other holiday weekend to the California Highway Patrol," according to Capt. E. Killingsworth, Commander of the San Diego Area CHP.

"There will be heavy traffic, hundreds of thousands of vehicles on the roads and highways of California and there will be accidents — in all it will be a typical holiday weekend for the California Highway Patrol."

Last year on Labor Day weekend, 71 persons died in traffic accidents in California, a new record for Labor Day fatalities.

"If drivers will drive carefully and according to the law the accident toll can be reduced drastically. Don't you think it's worth a try?"

Two million new homes will be built in the U. S. next year, it is predicted.

Registration For LM-SV District Opens Aug. 28

With the exception of the four year-round schools that are currently in operation, Sencroft, La Presa Elementary, Rancho and La Presa Jr. High, registration of children enrolling for the first time in the elementary and junior high schools in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District will begin August 28, according to Dr. David D. Pascoe, associate superintendent, instruction.

Parents shall bring proof of birth date for pupils being enrolled in kindergarten, and evidence of previous school enrollment for older children. Certain health information, including verification of immunization against polio, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, is also required.

Classes will begin September 11.

Children attending local schools at the close of the semester last June need not register. Children who will be attending district schools for the first time in September must be registered. A child legally enrolled in a school outside the district may be properly admitted to school and be placed in the proper grade upon registration and presentation of evidence of enrollment and grade placement in the former school of attendance, Pascoe said.

In order to be admitted to kindergarten a pupil must be five years old on or before December 2. Minimum entering age for first-graders in the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District is five years and nine months.

If a child has not received inoculations or vaccinations before entering school, he will be given a two-week grace period in order to do so. Students whose parents state that inoculations or vaccinations are contrary to their beliefs are exempt from the requirement.

Cable T.V. Offered By Rancho S.D.

One of the features to be offered residents of Sweetwater Village at Rancho San Diego will be a cable TV system, it was announced by Leonard Grayson, vice president and general manager.

The first phase of the system is now nearing completion with the installation of 15 miles of underground conduit, Grayson said.

Sweetwater Village is the first of several planned Villages which will comprise the Rancho San Diego "new town" located 12 miles east of downtown San Diego.

"Our new town commitment is to preserve approximately 40% of the land in planned open space," Grayson said. "An important aspect of the freedom we are striving for is the underground installation of all utility services to eliminate the visual blight that of necessity accompanies a network of overhead wires and TV antennas."

Every home in Sweetwater Village will be pre-wired for CATV reception, however, subscription to the system will be optional.

Planning and design of the receiving antenna site is the next phase of system development. Current plans call for the antenna to be located atop a hill just south of the junction of Sweetwater Springs Blvd. and Jamacha Blvd.

Also in the planning stage is a studio operation to serve the total Rancho San Diego community with site of the facility tentatively set for Sweetwater Village. The studio will be for local program origination for viewing by subscribing Rancho San Diego residents.

Don Wedeking New Owner Of Jac's Catering

Jac's Catering Service, located at 7810 Broadway, Lemon Grove, will soon be under new ownership.

Jac Cruse, who has operated the business for the last year and a half, indicated that he has completed negotiations with Donald Wedeking, 52, of Chula Vista.

Wedeking, who has been in the bakery and food business most of his life, said that the business will continue under the name "Jac's Catering". He will also use the same crew, he said.

The new owner, who has been in the bakery and restaurant business, said that the venture into the catering service business will be his first.

Wedeking, who is married and the father of three daughters, indicated that the business will still handle all phases of catering, serving a variety of foods.

Cruse, who also operates a coffee house in San Diego along with the Scottish Rite Masonic Temple in Mission Valley, has been in the catering business for 15 years.

He has worked and owned restaurants for the past 20 years and "if you count dishwashing and busboy time, 30 years," he said. Cruse, who formerly lived in Lemon Grove for 10 years, now resides in San Diego with his wife.

Locally, Cruse served as chef manager at Michael's Restaurant and was formerly co-owner of El Morocco, along with Henry Goldy, who also owned Michael's.

He was also co-owner with Goldy of the Bronze Room in La Mesa. Goldy presently owns "Pecan Park", a mobile home park in El Cajon.

Cruse and Wedeking will work Jac's together for the next month or so, they said.

JAC'S CATERING — Don Wedeking, left, and Jack Cruse work on muffins for a catering job. Wedeking is the new owner of the firm, located at 7810 Broadway, Lemon Grove, after purchasing it from Cruse. Cruse and Wedeking will work the business together for the next month or so, they said.

Gas Theft Suspects Arrested On Charge Of Toluene Inhalation

A Lemon Grove man and his 17-year-old companion were arrested last week on charges of inhaling toluene.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, a 1968 Buick matching the description of a vehicle suspected of stealing gasoline from several area self-service stations, was seen shortly before 10 a.m. last Tuesday.

The vehicle was stopped at the corner of North and Broadway in Lemon Grove, and the driver was contacted. It was noted that the driver's eyes were bloodshot and appeared glassy and that strong odor of toluene emitted from his breath.

He was arrested and charged with driving while under the influence of toluene.

Both suspects were transported to the Lemon Grove Office, where permission was granted for deputies to search suspect Shapiro's house. The search netted one gallon of toluene.

Immunization Required For Beginning Students

Children entering school for the first time in September must be immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, poliomyelitis and measles.

A youngster of six or under must have received at least four doses of diphtheria-whooping cough-tetanus vaccine within the last three years. Those seven or older, entering school for the first time, must have the diphtheria-tetanus vaccine but are exempt from whooping cough requirements.

Children who have not been properly immunized are generally admitted to school on a conditional basis and must begin immunization within two weeks. Immunization is not required if it is contrary to the parents' belief or a doctor's written statement indicating these immunizations would be unsafe for the child.

The State Board of Education has ruled that smallpox vaccination will no longer be required. This was recommended by the U. S. Public Health Department which pointed out "the disease is now almost nonexistent, and the complications of immunization are considered to be much more of a hazard than the dangers of smallpox."

Mexico Gets Water

Water began flowing through Otay Water District pipes to Mexico Monday, marking the first time in history that piped water entered Mexico from the United States.

The Mexican government pays $109.11 cents per acre-foot for the use of the pipes, but pays nothing for the water.

The water is part of Mexico's annual share of 1.5 million acre-feet of Colorado River Water established by treaty 30 years ago.

Two SV Men Jailed After El Cajon Raid

Two Spring Valley men were among nine persons arrested at an El Cajon home last week on marijuana charges.

Craig R. Jacobus, 21, of 3963 Bogoso lane, Spring Valley, and Donald E. Dutton, 21, of 4161 N. Bonita, Spring Valley, were taken into custody at 3 a.m. last Tuesday morning and charged with being in a place where marijuana was smoked.

According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, the arrests were made following a complaint of loud music from a residence on Jeri lane in El Cajon.

At the residence, a 17-year-old youth was seen sleeping in a parked van. He was awakened and it was noted that a strong odor of alcohol permeated the vehicle and his person.

The suspect was asked to contact the owner of the residence and ask him to come outside. When the suspect opened the door to the residence, a strong odor of burned marijuana was detected, and deputies entered.

Discovered inside on a small table were numerous stems and seeds, appearing to be marijuana, as well as several burned "roaches" and cigarette papers.

At that point, all persons in and about the residence were arrested and charged with being in a place where marijuana was smoked. Additionally, several of the suspects were charged with other drug-related charges, including possession of restricted dangerous drugs, and possession of marijuana paraphernalia.

A thorough search of the house uncovered five white pills believed to be benzadrine, one water pipe containing what is believed to have been marijuana, and approximately one ounce of marijuana in a plastic bag.

The suspects were booked in County Jail.

Northern White Rhinos Join Wild Animal Park

When easterners pull up stakes and move west, it doesn't usually cause much comment. When one couple from Washington, D.C. and another pair from St. Louis arrive in San Diego with the purpose of cohabitating in the San Pasqual Valley, it may not cause too much consternation nowadays either.

But when you consider that four recent arrivals of that description are famous, weigh over 4000 pounds each, belong to a small vanishing race, and eat nothing but alfalfa and health food, perhaps they should be investigated.

Investigation is what the San Diego Wild Animal Park is welcoming, because these new residents are northern white rhinoceros now on display at the park, and are the only four of this species in the western world.

Dinka and Joyce arrived August 8 at the San Diego Wild Animal Park, the natural environment preserve of the San Diego Zoo, 30 miles north-east of the city. The pair came from the St. Louis Zoo. Having arrived from Africa in 1957, they are now about 20 years old. Upon arrival at the Wild Animal Park they joined a younger pair, Bill and Lucy, that arrived April 22, on permanent loan from the National Zoo in Washington, D.C.

Curator, Dr. James Dolan, has expressed hope that mating activity would increase among the four animals in the large natural environment park area. He also noted that a northern white rhino has never been born in captivity and stressed that rhinos need room to roam.

Two Cities Drop Sirens' Wail

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley areas will continue to be alerted the first Monday of each month at noon by "air raid" sirens.

San Diego and El Cajon turned theirs off to save money. All of the rest of the county, including the incorporated cities near the test wall each month, according to John Lukasik, County Civil Defense Director.

County Administrator Fred J. Morey, who also serves as Area Disaster Coordinator said he is studying the effect of having the remaining sirens retained in service. Of the original 132 sirens, 38 now are in operation.

Residents of areas outside these two cities are asked to call 448-4611 if the siren in their area does not work.

"Since Bill and Lucy's arrival in the San Pasqual Valley, interest between them has been remarkably improved; you might say a second honeymoon is underway," Dr. Dolan commented.

Bill and Lucy's former enclosure at the National Zoo is now occupied by giant pandas Hsing-Hsing and Ling-Ling, gifts to Mrs. Richard Nixon from the Peoples Republic of China.

The Wild Animal Park now has half the total captive population of northern white rhinos in the world. There is one each in the Khartoum and Antwerp zoos, and two in the London Zoo. The number of these rhinos in their native Eastern Congo, Uganda and Southern Sudan, has dwindled from about 1000 in 1963, to less than 100 today.

Dinka and Joyce were released in the Park's 100 acre East African enclosure to roam in relative freedom with giraffe, zebra, impala, gnu, and their fellow northern white rhinos. Dr. Dolan, on hand for the release, commented "Now we wait, and watch. What happens here will have very important consequences for the future of the entire population of northern white rhinos. Perhaps extinction can be averted."

Bicycle-Truck Crash Fatal To S.V. Youth

A six-year old Spring Valley girl received fatal head injuries Friday when she was struck by a passing truck as she was riding her bicycle on the street near her home.

Rushed to Paradise Valley Hospital at 6:40 p.m. by the Spring Valley Fire Department rescue crew was Mitchell Chappell, of 915 Maria ave. She was dead on arrival at the hospital.

According to reports from the Highway Patrol, the youngster was riding a bicycle in the vicinity of Grand ave. and Jamacha Blvd., reportedly on the wrong side of the road.

The identity of the driver involved in the mishap was not released. The driver was not cited.

Junior Golfers From 24 Countries In S.D. Tourney

SAN DIEGO — Recent entry of national champions from Ecuador and Bermuda, has raised the Junior World Golf Championships foreign entry list to 24 nations and a record 33 players.

Other contestants are from Austria, Belgium, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, England, France, India, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Mexico, Norway, Panama, Portugal, Puerto Rico, Scotland, Spain, Sweden, Taiwan and West Germany.

The 500-plus Junior World entrants will play on four area courses, including Torrey Pines GC, Aug. 29-Sept. 1.

Tournament Director Mrs. A. S. (Lou) Smith said JW officials decided it probably would be an advantage for overseas players to use the smaller ball they usually play.

"They have had to make some adjustments when they played the larger American ball in past years. Most of them said the American ball wouldn't go as far (as the British ball), but that they thought it was easier to putt," she explained.

The three lower age groups, 10-and-under, 11-12 and 13-14 will play 54 holes, Aug. 29-30, 31, with fields cut one third at the end of 36. The 10s play Presidio Hills GC (1,435 yards), the 11-12s play Mission Bay GC (3,175 yards), the 13-14s Balboa Park Municipal (5,917 yards for boys and 5,694 for girls).

In the first three rounds, boys will play the South course, (6,727 yards), and girls the North (6,318 yards).

Water Sports Highlight Discovery Club Camp

Sailing, water skiing and snorkeling instruction started Monday for 41 junior high school girls who are attending the Discovery Club Aquatics Camp sponsored by the San Diego County Council of Camp Fire Girls.

The camp is held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday at Vacation Isle. The Aquatics Camp is in its eighth year and for the first time features separate sessions for junior high and high school girls.

Jill Conrad is camp chairman assisted by Cynthia Richmond and eight adult counselors. Six high school girls serve as assistant counselors during the Discovery Club camp.

The water sport instruction is featured in the morning with other activities such as bike riding, kayak boating, sketching and photography in the afternoon.

The high school Aquatics Camp will begin August 21 and will include surfing in addition to sailing, water skiing and snorkeling. Mrs. Conrad is chairman for both sessions.

Then the Cubs close out the home stand with night games Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Color photos of Nate Colbert commemorating his record-breaking five homers and 13 runs batted in during the Aug. 1 doubleheader against Atlanta will be distributed to all fans attending the Tuesday and Wednesday night games against the Cubs.

When Red Barber, himself an Old Timer with 33 years of play-by-play experience, on Friday summons the great stars of yesterday for individual introduction, fans will be treated to what should rate as among the most memorable moments in San Diego baseball history.

L.G. Stars Win Opener, Drop Next Two

The Lemon Grove Bobby Sox League Minor All Star team, competing in the National Bobby Sox Tournament in Buena Park last week, committed 14 errors in three games and was eliminated after three rounds of the tourney.

The local hopefuls made it through Wednesday's opening round by edging a scrappy Pacifica team, 6-5.

Pacifica scored first in the game, getting to Lemon Grove twirler Teri Collinge for a single score in the first frame.

Lemon Grove battled back in the third inning on singles by Teri Collinge, Susie Stinchcomb, Rose Murphy, and Terry Nicholas to take a 4-1 lead.

Pacifica tallied a single score in the bottom of the inning to make it 4-2.

Both teams were blanked in the fourth inning, but Lemon Grove tallied in the fifth inning on Susie Stinchcomb's single to make it 5-2.

Teri Collinge, who struck out five batters for the winners, tired in the waning innings, as Pacifica tallied in the sixth to make it 5-3. Lemon Grove seemed to put the game away in the top of the seventh with an insurance run, but Pacifica rallied in last half of the inning.

Pacifica tallied twice in the frame and had the bases loaded with two out when the final out was made.

Barbara Holder took the mound for the local stars in the second game, giving up just three hits while striking out five batters.

But her teammates offered her little support, committing seven errors in the game and getting no runs for the first six innings.

By that time, the score was 3-0 in favor of Silverado, and the last inning rally netted only one run for the losers.

Local bats remained quiet in the third game, as Lemon Grove could manage only two hits, while Navajo came up with seven runs. The local team's only scoring took place in the fifth inning when Terry Nicholas knocked in Terry Deane with a triple and later scored herself.

Fullerton Hills went on to win the tournament.

of Easter, Coscarart, Hack and Steve Mesner and an outfield of DiMaggio, Waner and Earle Brucker. Earl Averill, Jr. will do the catching for the PCL stars.

Frisch will direct the National League stars with Johnny Padres, Newcombe and Hubbell as pitchers, infielders Doerr, Rudy Regalado, Chuck Connors and Jack Graham.

The NFL outfield is staffed with such record-breakers as Musial, West, Herman, Medwick and Bordagaray.

There will be an Old Timers umpire crew of Beans Reardon, Jocko Conlan, Ed Runge and Pat Orr.

Bill Starr, who owned the PCL Padres when the club won a championship in 1954, will be present along with Charles "Chub" Feeney, president of the National League.

The rosters of both clubs reflect nearly 300 years of major league experience, and represent careers that have contributed most significantly to baseball's great tradition.

They'll be in uniform once again for one night — Friday — and it's a moment and a memory that all fans will treasure.

O'Halloran Named Winner In State Champ Ring Match

Last week he was called Jack O'Halloran, the La Jolla Lip.

This week it is Mr. La Jolla Lip, the State Heavyweight Boxing Champion.

How did it happen? No one knows for sure. There was a heavyweight match between State Champion Henry Clark and O'Halloran Wednesday in San Diego's Coliseum. When the 12-round tedium ended there was a split decision, a new State Champion with many of the Coliseum's 2,825 paying customers shaking their heads as they left.

Except for a couple of flurries in which wild punches were exchanged without damage to either gladiator, the match was disappointing.

New champion O'Halloran, wearing his new-found laurels proudly, directed his cheering section from the ring as he was named winner. The rooting section was comprised of about 150 habitués of Bully's West, a San Diego drinking spot where O'Halloran is said to do at least part of his training.

O'Halloran had announced he would put Clark away in seven rounds. He didn't come close and there were no knockouts.

After the fight, both Clark and Ken Norton, a nifty San Diego heavyweight challenged the new titleholder. But his trainer, Juan Bustamante, said O'Halloran would go to Argentina to fight Jose Luis Garcia.

Monday O'Halloran said Garcia would come to San Diego. He also said he would fight George Foreman in Boston Sept. 16. Foreman is ranked No. 2 heavyweight.

In the dressing room Clark said about the losing score laconically. "I don't know anything about the scoring. I just get in the ring to fight."

Scoring was 6-4 Clark, by one judge; 5-4 O'Halloran, by the other judge, and 4-3 O'Halloran by the referee.

Clark's manager, Joe Harman, said he had "never seen Clark fight so bad."

O'Halloran, of course, was jubilant. He said he had been Clark went in at 215½ pounds; The Lip at 244.

The classiest fight on the card was a San Diego middleweight, Dave Love, who knocked out Los Angeles' Bob Stripling in the sixth round of a scheduled 10 round battle.

The promoter, Lou Lake, who has been putting fight cards together this summer at the Coliseum, appears to be on the verge of bringing popularity back to prizefighting in San Diego. Lake, a former Marine basketball player and boxing coach, is attracting a growing group of fight fans.

His reputation for truthfulness among sportswriters and sportscasters has helped. So has his attempt to provide honest fight cards.

New Official For Gulls' Family

Jay Leishman, 29, has been named the new Administrative Assistant for the San Diego Gulls. General Manager Max McNab made the announcement at the Monday meeting of the San Diego Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association. Jay will replace Jack Singer, who will leave the Gulls to devote his full time to real estate.

Leishman comes to San Diego from the Kansas City Royals Baseball Club where he was the Director of Stadium Operations and Development.

A member of a sports family, Jay is the son of Eddie Leishman, vice president and general manager of the San Diego Padres.

Leishman started in the sports world with the Phoenix Giants (Pacific Coast League) as business manager. He worked with the San Francisco farm club from January 1967 until November 1968. From there he moved on to the new Kansas City Royal franchise as traveling secretary.

In October of 1969, Jay took over as the Director of Stadium Operations and Stadium Development for the Royals. The new park will be ready to operate next spring when the baseball season opens in April 1973.

49ers-Chargers Meet Saturday In Month's Final Home Game

The Republicans are not coming to San Diego this weekend, but Washington is. Led by Gene Washington and Vic Washington, the San Francisco 49ers invade San Diego Stadium to battle the Chargers Saturday night at 8. It is the last home game until they tangle with the Los Angeles Rams on Sept. 2.

A crowd of more than 40,000 is expected to see the game, which salutes San Diego's "America's Finest City Week." City by the Other Bay, San Francisco is expected to contest the heading as well as the ball game.

The third pre-season game of the year will be broadcast by KDEO and the Charger network and televised by KCST-39 for replay Sunday night at 8. For the Chargers and 49ers, it will be a preview of the opening game of the National Football League season. They collide at Candlestick Park on Sept. 17.

San Diego and San Francisco have met twice before in pre-season. The Chargers won, 30-18, in 1968. The 49ers won, 28-17, in 1971.

Both teams enter Saturday night's game with records of 1-1. San Diego lost to the Vikings, 24-13, at Minnesota last Saturday night after beating the Atlanta Falcons, 30-7. San Francisco beat the Cleveland Browns, 20-13, last Sunday after losing to the New York Jets, 17-10.

Against San Francisco, the Chargers will be strengthened by the expected 1972 debut of star wide receiver Gary Garrison, who has been hobbled by a pulled leg muscle. Only cornerback Bob Howard, with a sprained knee, is a

Seat Belt Use Not Frequent

The life-saving habit of buckling on a safety belt is still far from a frequent practice in California, a Highway Patrol study of ejected accident victims revealed.

Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski said that a sampling of 206 CHP-investigated fatal accidents which occurred in February, March and April showed that, of 172 passenger vehicle occupants killed, 44 or 25.6 percent were thrown from the vehicle.

A similar review of fatal accidents which occurred in the Patrol's Los Angeles Zone during 1971 revealed 22 percent of the victims were ejected. Both Memorial Day and Fourth of July holiday fatal accidents reflected approximately the same percentages.

"The wearing of a properly adjusted belt or harness-belt combination would prevent most ejections — and sufficient research is available to demonstrate that the risk of severe injury or death is greatly increased for persons thrown from a vehicle," the Commissioner said.

Independent studies of both passenger and commercial vehicle accidents have shown that ejected victims are from two to five times more likely to be fatally injured than persons who remain in the vehicle.

"This fact alone proves the value of safety belts. Of course belt use not only reduces ejections, it also diminishes the severity of injury to persons restrained within the vehicle. The high percentage of ejections indicates that failure to use safety belts is still resulting in needless injury and death," the Commissioner said.

doubtful starter. Making his first San Diego appearance

Season tickets to San Diego Charger games are on sale at San Diego Stadium Gate E. As of Monday, the Chargers had sold 33,910, a record amount.

Coach Harland Sware was not displeased with his team's loss to the powerful Vikings and their old-new quarterback Fran Tarkenton, who hit 20 of 26 passes for 175 yards and two touchdowns. Said Sware, "We played quality football against a quality team."

Of particular quality for San Diego:

1. Two touchdowns rushing against a team which gave up only two in 14 games last year.

2. A 68-yard, 14-play touchdown drive in the first quarter in which four third-down plays were successful.

3. A defensive effort in the third quarter in which Minnesota was held without a first down and to -5 yards total offense.

Both Sware and Minnesota Coach Bud Grant praised the play of John Hadl and Bob Babich. The Charger quarterback completed 12 of 22 passes for 99 yards and scored on a four-yard bootleg. Playing at strong side linebacker, Babich made 11 tackles and one sack.

Against San Francisco, Sware will be coaching against his former New York Giant teammate, Dick Nolan. Under Nolan, the 49ers have won the NFC West in 1970 and 1971 and are favored this year.

San Francisco features the passing of John Brodie and Steve Spurrier, receiving of Gene Washington and Ted Kwalick and running of Vic Washington and Ken Willard. The offensive line is tops in the NFC in pass protection, allowing only eight sacks in 1970 and 11 in 1971.

The 49ers defensive line ranked second in the NFC with 38 sacks in 1971. Linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were all-pro selections and middle linebacker Frank Nunley and corner Bruce Taylor are not far behind them.

Next Saturday night, the Chargers travel to New Orleans to face the Saints.

Computers To Control State Traffic Signals

Inexpensive computers, called "minicomputers" by state highway engineers, will control traffic signals at intersections on California's highways in the near future and are expected to reduce accidents and delays.

Gerald Bloodgood, assistant traffic engineer for the California Division of Highways, will coordinate the program with the division's 11 district offices. An initial order for 50 such computers built to the division's specifications will be placed in the next few weeks, he said.

Traffic actuated controllers, whether conventional or minicomputer, scan an intersection about 20 times a second and pose the question to themselves: Should the present signal be changed?

Vehicle detectors below the pavement surface feed the controllers information which they act on in accordance with built-in decision-making logic.

The detectors permit the controllers to know how many vehicles are waiting at, or approaching, an intersection; their rates of speed; if left-turn lanes are occupied, and if vehicles are waiting in the intersection to complete a left turn.

Capable of doing anything now done by the most complex conventional traffic signal controller on the market, the minicomputer's manner of switching stop, go, left-turn, and pedestrian signals can be set exactly as traffic engineers desire for a particular intersection. Moreover, the sequence of signals can be changed with ease to meet changing traffic conditions.

On the other hand, tailoring the conventional controller to an unusual intersection traffic pattern involves expensive and time-consuming re-wiring by the manufacturer.

The California Division of Highways pioneered the use of a minicomputer at an actual intersection in 1971 and in so doing reduced accidents 40 percent. Personnel of the Division's Material and Research Laboratory and traffic engineers experimented with the use of the minicomputer for intersection control under laboratory conditions.

The experiment proved so successful that another minicomputer was purchased and installed at another intersection of Folsom Boulevard (former Route 50) and Bradshaw road, east of Sacramento.

Bloodgood said more than 100 computers per year for the next several years will be installed to govern single and small groups of intersections.

Career Education Emphasized In Junior, Senior High Schools

A new push for what is being called "career education" and a de-emphasis of college preparatory classes in junior and senior high schools is now gripping the education world.

In the last decade or so, educators have offered basically three tracks for high school students: college prep, for those who wish to go on to a degree in a college or university, vocational education, such as woodshop or secretarial skills classes, and general courses, for students who wouldn't be attending college or entering the limited vocational trades taught in high schools.

The problem, according to education experts, is that high school education suited the needs of only 40% of the students, the 20% that would go on to college, and the 20% who would become secretaries, carpenters, auto mechanics.

The result, according to State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles, is that nearly 2.5 million students leave formal education without adequate career training each year.

"Career education," said Riles, "is not an expansion of vocational education. College-bound students could also benefit from a salable skill which would not only enhance personal security, but aid in financing future education."

According to Riles, career education would focus basic subjects around career development, making current subject matter more related to careers. Mathematics would still be taught to future plumbers, but the facets of math that would be useful to a plumber would be emphasized.

A long-time goal of the education system would be to have all graduating high school students leave school with a skill qualifying the student for at least one job entry, Riles said.

The program would strive to put an end to the student who enters college simply because college prep classes were the only alternative to limited vocational training.

For instance, a future farmer would have use for mechanical classes, to a degree, chemical classes, to a degree, and math classes, to a degree. The problem is that mechanical classes are geared for future mechanics, chemistry classes for scientists, and math classes have too much theory and not enough practical application. What is missing is the link to farming that the classes need in order to be related to the career.

Under career education, classes would show practical uses for the knowledge that can be gained from them.

The new program would also cut down on drop-outs, who leave school because of boredom, only to find that they have no skills.

Additionally, career education would afford college-bound students an opportunity to more fully understand the subject matter, because they can more easily see how the knowledge can be applied.

With more students better qualified for the job market, fewer students will be going to college simply because they can't find a job, and fewer students will be flooding the market with college degrees.

Most people are familiar with the fellow who holds a teaching credential but ends up washing dishes or selling used cars while he hunts in vain for a teaching position.

Under career education, that man would have a salable skill which he could use while attending college or waiting for a job opening, while leaving the dishwashing jobs to teenagers who seek movie money.

For the vocational student, career education would mean less on-the-job training necessary, saving time and money for his employer and resulting in better advancement for the employee. Instead of learning how to relate his knowledge to the job after getting the position, he will learn that in school.

Starlight Series Continues With Musical '1776'

United States International University's third Starlight Summer Musical, the powerful yet amusing recreation of the founding of our country, "1776" opened an 11-performance run Tuesday.

Curtain is at 8:30 p.m. nightly through August 26, with no show Monday, August 21.

The productions, produced by USIU's Center for the Performing Arts in association with the San Diego Civic Light Opera Association, are staged in San Diego State's Open Air Theatre.

Starring in the role of John Adams, fighting for his dream of American freedom, is Bill Hayes, who for the past two and one-half years has been one of the most popular daytime TV leading men in the top-rated dramatic series, "Days of Our Lives."

Co-starring with Hayes in the role of Benjamin Franklin whose lusty wit provides the dramatic birth of the nation with aphorisms and optimism, is Howard Caine, well-known and highly regarded actor who also appeared in the motion picture version of "1776" recently filmed and scheduled for release the end of this year.

A twenty-four piece orchestra provides musical accompaniment for songs which were written by Sherman Edwards who also created the original concept for "1776."

Reservations and tickets for remaining performances of Starlight's "1776" may be obtained at the USIU School of Performing Arts box office at 350 Cedar st. in downtown San Diego or by phoning 232-2136.

Daily hours are 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the Open Air Theater on performance night after 7:30 p.m. Phone reservations are accepted.

Mayor Wilson To Head Big Brothers Drive

Mayor Pete Wilson has been named honorary chairman of the ninth annual San Diego Big Brothers fund raising gourmet dinner October 9 in Town and Country Convention Center, it was announced this week by general chairman John R. Bell.

The Big Brothers program provides adult male companionship and guidance for boys without a father in the home.

Big Brothers will sell 400 tickets to a $200-a-plate banquet, raising about 75% of the annual budget for the privately funded child welfare agency.

Through the Big Brothers program, founded in San Diego in 1961, boys from 8 to 16 without a father or male guardian in their lives are matched with adult male volunteers offering friendship and guidance.

Louis Nye As "Aunt"

Louis Nye Scores In Stage Farce

"Charley's Aunt" is a laugh-producing classic of the American stage.

The current edition is offered daily, except Mondays, at the Off Broadway Theatre in San Diego.

While the play is a standard, the performance is superior, due mostly to the portrayal of the "aunt" by Louis Nye.

It takes good acting to avert a man/woman characterization from becoming distasteful, but Nye manages it adroitly. More, he brings masculine hilarity to role, as no doubt it was intended when the farce was first written — a great many years ago.

"Charley's Aunt" is a simple story though not so simple that it ever happens to everyone.

CARE Sets Philippine Flood Fund

In the wake of the recent flood in Manila and 14 provinces of Luzon Island which authorities have called the worst natural disaster in Philippine history, CARE is rushing emergency aid to the victims, which include 1.2 million refugees.

Regional Director, Larry Cafer announced at CARE headquarters in Los Angeles that CARE is "now distributing 2,225,000 pounds of flour and 324,000 pounds of non-fat dry milk to 250,000 school children in Philippine flood affected areas. By August 9, CARE will have started distribution of an additional 3,600,000 pounds of flour in those areas."

With 356 lives lost and some 6,000,000 persons affected by the flood, CARE is setting up a special "Philippine Flood Disaster Fund" to help defray costs of the emergency aid. Approximately $100,000 is needed to cover transportation, distribution and supervision of the crisis feeding program.

Women's Classes Set

Three new courses will be offered for women only under the new Self-Actualization Program for Women at Southwestern College this fall. The program is designed to help women become more aware of the broad range of alternatives available and to give them an opportunity to develop new skills and grow in knowledge and self-fulfillment.

The two instructors who have developed the program, Carol Hauenstein and Eileen Lindsay, have scheduled the classes for Tuesdays and Thursdays. One class will run from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and the other class from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

When the two college lads need a chaperone to avoid compromising their visiting girl friends, they acquire the aid of a middle-aged rounder who is also attending the college. Impersonating the rich, widowed aunt of Charley, one of the college youths, Nye plays his role to the hilt. "Aunt Nye" has a normal masculine yen for the two luscious visiting girls — and they treat him as one of their own sex allowing him to touch and pat at will. On the other hand Nye, as a rich widow, is pursued by two aging Romeos, each of whom is overly-romantically seeking partnership with Aunt's bank account.

It is a pleasant refresher for those who have seen it, and a knee-slapper for those who have not.

The final presentation is Sept. 3. M.G.

Southwestern Vacancies Filled

Two vacancies have recently been filled on the staff at Southwestern College. Dr. Leroy E. Olson has been hired as Assistant Dean, Evening and Extension Operations and Joseph P. Dordahl is the new Personnel Director.

Olson comes to Southwestern from Illinois, where he taught biology and physical science in Evanston Township High School prior to obtaining his doctorate in Education from the University of California, Berkeley.

He also received a bachelor of science degree and masters degree from Northern Illinois University and a Specialist in Science Education degree from the University of Georgia.

Olson is a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi and was awarded the Kellogg Fellowship in 1966 in addition to two National Science Foundation awards. He will be residing in Chula Vista.

Dordahl, a retired U.S. Navy Commander received a bachelor of science degree from North Dakota State University and a masters degree in Business Administration from the United States International University.

DOUBLY PREPARED — Career education, which is being instigated in junior and senior high schools, offers increased vocational education as well as classes which are more easily related to career development. The result will hopefully mean a marketable skill for students when they leave formal education, as well as skills for college-bound students which will be useful in financing higher education and increased security for college grads entering a tight job market.

Padre Junipero Serra Day Set at Old Mission

Padre Junipero Serra, Franciscan founder of the chain of Old Missions of California, will be honored with special ceremonies on Sunday at Old Mission San Luis Rey, near Oceanside. The Franciscan padres there invite visitors from everywhere to the celebration.

The day's events begin with a commemorative Mass at 10:30 a.m., in the ancient mission church. The public is welcome. Instead of delivering a sermon, Padre Martin McKeon, of the mission will relate the exciting life story of Junipero Serra.

Junipero Serra was born in 1713, on the Spanish Isle of Mallorca. At 16, he joined the Franciscan Order. In 1749, he volunteered to serve as a missionary in the New World. During the next 18 years, he was in Mexico, working amidst fantastic dangers. Fearlessly, he went about preaching to the most unlikely listeners. For eight years, he struggled with sun-worshipping natives in the wild and isolated Sierra Gorda.

During the following ten years, he criss-crossed Mexico, confronting boisterous adventures in roaring mining camps, and swaggering men of the sea in lawless ports. By contrast, he also brought his message to some of the most cultured people of the age, in civilized cities.

Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird is 46 years old.

Zoo Dedicates New Aviary

A new exhibit for birds with unique nesting habits was dedicated at the San Diego Zoo in memory of a San Diego civic and business leader.

Mrs. Henry B. Cramer unveiled a plaque at the exhibit honoring her husband, who was owner of the Cramer Baking Co., now Weber Baking Co. Cramer was also active in local political circles and for eight years was a member of the state Board of Prison Directors. He died in February, 1971.

Mrs. Cramer was assisted by Zoological Society president Anderson Borthwick and Zoo curator of birds K. C. Lint, who pointed out that Mr. Cramer was a frequent donor to the Zoo. He raised game birds as a hobby and over the years gave the Zoo pheasants, quail and other birds.

The Cramer exhibit houses Australian brush turkeys, noted for the large mounds of dirt, leaves and vegetation they build in which to incubate their eggs. Zoo curator of birds K. C. Lint said the hillside aviary with its floor of leaf mold will be ideal for the brush turkey's mound-building activities.

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

"Para" and "por" are two Spanish words which have the same general meaning of "for" in English. This may create some confusion, especially when it becomes necessary to select the right one to use in conversation.

"Para" may be used to express "for" in the sense of "purpose" or "use". In the expression "Jabon es para lavar" (Soap is for washing), we see "para" being used to express "for" in the sense of "purpose." Thus the statement suggests that "Soap is for the purpose of washing." We may hear "para" in conversation which suggests the meaning "for" in the sense of "for use." An example of this is seen in "El coche es para Juan," which may be idiomatically translated "The car is for John's use." Another example would be "Es para ti." (It is for you.)

"Para" is used to express "for" in the sense of destination. This is demonstrated in the expressions "Salieron para Mexico ayer en la mañana." (They left for Mexico yesterday morning), and "Estamos en el camino para Acapulco." (We are on the road for Acapulco.)

"Por" is translated in the sense of "by." This is seen in the expression "Yo voy por su casa." (I am going by your house.)

"Es imposible pasar por la tienda." (It is impossible to go by the store.) "Por" is also used idiomatically to express "in." Examples of this are seen in the expressions "por la mañana" (in the morning), "por la tarde" (in the afternoon), and "por la noche" (in the evening).

Several practice phrases are listed below that contain "para" and "por." You may enjoy learning to say them with the aid of the phonetic guide following each phrase. An automatic record will also guide you in saying them when you dial 276-7262.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Para quien es?" (PAH-rah kee-EHN ehs) for "For whom it is?"

Say "Es para ti." (ehs PAH-rah tee) for "It is for you."

Say "Salieron para Mexico?" (sah-lee-EH-rohn PAH-rah MEH-hee-koh) for "Did they leave for Mexico?"

Say "No salieron para Mexico." (noh sah-lee-EH-rohn MEH-hee-koh) for "They did not leave for Mexico."

Say "Es por su casa?" (ehs pohr soo KAH-sah) for "Is it by your house?"

Say "Vamos por la mañana." (VAH-mohs pohr lah mah-nah-YAH-nah) for "Let's go in the morning."

Welfare Recipients Soon To Register For Work

Welfare recipients will soon have to register for employment, manpower services or training in order to remain eligible for Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

Those on AFDC-Unemployed will have to maintain eligibility by satisfying county welfare departments that they are actively seeking employment and have not turned down a legitimate job offer. Those who are not AFDC-Unemployed will not have to register if they are over 65, are between 16 and 21 and in school, or are mothers of children under six.

This was the substance of a series of emergency regulations put into effect by Welfare Director B. Carleson to carry out the intent of the Talmadge Amendments to the Social Security Act which were passed by Congress in June.

The new regulations were filed on an emergency basis as required by Federal Law, so that the counties can put them into effect this month. Public hearings will be held November 15 in Sacramento. Separate administrative units will be set up in the county welfare departments to help recipients with job search plans and to eliminate family barriers to employment. The SAU's will review each individual's situation every two weeks.

Under the new regulations, county welfare departments will be responsible for referring AFDC applicants and current nonregistered AFDC recipients to HRD for registration.

The counties are to develop self-support service plans to include such services as child care, medical services and transportation to enable the individual to accept employment or training.

The counties and HRD are to participate in development plans to place the individual in the shortest time possible consistent with his qualifications.

"Open Eves" Set By Supervisors

Want to know what's going on down at "city hall"?

For those who have not been able to attend daytime meetings of the County Board of Supervisors because of earning a living, the Board has arranged to have nightly meetings — for a trial run.

The every-other-month meetings will start in September for a series of three. Depending on how well attended the meetings are will decide the continuation of them.

Matters of significant regional interest will be scheduled, members of the Board said.

Night meetings have been held previously but only on specific occasions.

Burglars, Thieves, Robbers Fear Sheriff's 'Air Arm'

by Max Goodwin

There's one thing to be said for the San Diego Sheriff's Department helicopter.

Its view from the sky is good.

A record of the helicopter's effectiveness is written in a stack of reports of search and surveillance, and of apprehending suspects and aiding citizens.

Equally important is the growing fear expressed by potential lawbreakers that the helicopter patrol may observe their burglary and robbery operations.

And indeed it has — on numerous occasions, many of these observations were made in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley areas.

The Sheriff's "air arm" was put into operation as 1971 ended and the record is good. In January, reports started coming in — and reports continued week-by-week right up to today.

When the helicopter service was inaugurated, Lt. Robert Morse, a 20-year veteran of the Sheriff's Department was named officer in charge. He, and a staff of 13 make up the entire personnel. These are 5 pilots, 5 observers, and 3 mechanics.

Day And Night

The single helicopter's routine patrol is from mid-morning to midnight. And although it supplies aid to all communities in the county, including 13 incorporated cities, its regular course usually takes it over Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, Casa de Oro, Bonita, Paradise Hills and other areas just east and north of an area bounded by Highway 94, Mt. Helix, Bonita, Paradise Hills, and back to 94.

Radio communications connects the helicopter with ground units through Sheriff's command station M, the radio headquarters. The helicopter radio is also connected to every police and fire radio in the county. Thus, the helicopter is the eye, the radio the ear, and the ground units the muscle. Coordination of all of these elements are seen in the following condensed versions of activity reports filed by helicopter police at various hours from January to mid-August:

Located in Spring Valley an auto reported stolen. It was hidden in heavy brush; impossible to be seen by ground units.

Sighted two lost females in underbrush in an area north

Registration Packets Mailed To Returning Mt. Miguel Students

Students who will be returning to Mt. Miguel High School in September should have received registration packets via the mail earlier this week, according to reports from the Grossmont Union High School District.

Students who have not received packets should get in touch with the school. Students who will be enrolling in the ninth grade will not receive packets, as registration for first-time students will be handled differently.

Those students who find it necessary to make corrections such as name, address, grade level, or class schedule, should come to the school during the week of August 23-30 after making an appointment with a counselor.

First-time students should come to the school August 30, 31, or September 1 for registration, when counselors will be available to help students formulate schedules. Appointments will be made at that time for class sign-up times, which will be the week of September 5.

Returning students will have appointment times included in their packets.

At class sign-up times, students will have an opportunity to select their classes, times, and teachers. The new registration procedures, which work much like those used on the college level, replaces the previous method of pre-selecting schedules, which students received the first day of school.

of Lemon Grove. The children had been lost for 7 hours and huddled to keep warm as it grew dark. The sound of the rotors awakened them. They stood and waved their arms as the helicopter lights played on them. Ground units took them home, unharmed.

An overturned vehicle on a remote back-country road was on top of driver. Ground units responded and took victim to hospital.

Avocado Thieves Apprehended

Avocado thieves were loading a pick-up northeast of Spring Valley. Ground units were called and the helicopter pilot warned the thieves by using his siren. The culprits fled in the truck but stopped when ordered to do so via the helicopter public address equipment. Ground units arrested 5 juveniles.

On routine patrol, target shooters were seen on Dictionary Hill in Spring Valley. Ground units confiscated two rifles.

Covering a shoplifter report near La Mesa, helicopter patrol officer followed suspect down an alley and directed ground units to his hiding place. The suspect was captured.

A brush fire on Dictionary Hill was reported to the State Forestry Division through the entire county mutual aid net.

On an otherwise inaccessible mountainside east of Spring Valley where a 74-year-old man fell and broke his hip, the helicopter evacuated the injured victim.

Using siren and public address system, helicopter officers stopped a motorcyclist that had eluded auto units in Spring Valley area. Cyclist was immobilized until ground units arrived.

Helicopter was called to cover Sheriff's ground, and California Highway Patrol units when a fight in a Lemon Grove bar-restaurant spilled out onto Broadway. Spotlight and public address systems were used for crowd control.

Five illegal aliens hidden in the brush area south of Spring Valley were sighted by helicopter patrol. They were apprehended by border patrol.

Drunks Routed

Responding to a call concerning a disturbance in a home on San Juan st., Spring Valley, helicopter officers covered until ground units arrive and arrested 15 youths for disturbing the peace and being drunk in public.

Observing a motorcyclist attempting to elude a CHP unit pursuing subject with red light and siren, helicopter officers dropped down and stopped subject with rotor blast. When subject refused to submit to arrest, a helicopter officer dropped from the craft and took the subject into physical custody.

A motorcyclist sprawled motionless in a remote canyon east of Spring Valley was spotted by observer. Craft landed and officers gave first aid to victim who had a bad gash in his leg. Ground units responded and took victim to a hospital.

Responding to a malicious mischief report, helicopter officers spotted 15 juveniles running from property. Four subjects were tracked to a nearby residence and two of them were arrested.

Sixteen illegal aliens were arrested near midnight after helicopter officers illuminated an area near Spring Valley, holding aliens together until Border Patrol arrived.

A burglary was reported in progress in Vista La Mesa at 10 p.m. Illumination from the helicopter prevented suspect from leaving the premises. Suspect was captured and blamed helicopter for his apprehension.

Lemon Grove Sheriff's office asked cooperation of helicopter to stop big party at night in Bonita. Six subjects were taken into custody when they attempted to flee from the house and stepped out into the craft's searchlight. A subject lying unconscious in a ditch during the raid was also taken into custody when he was located by helicopter officers.

Friendship Circle

Four felony charges resulted after helicopter officers observed five persons sitting in a circle at dusk, some distance from their vehicles near Sweetwater Dam. Helicopter officers charged two with possession of heroin; two with possession of dangerous drugs.

Curiosity was sparked by a car parked adjacent to an auto salvage firm on Corona st. in Lemon Grove. Investigation indicated the car had been stolen in Whittier a short time earlier.

These condensations represent less than ten per cent of the total reports and do not include many of the investigations that proved unproductive.

Information Available

Local residents, especially during warm weather when windows are open and the "bird" can be heard clearly, are frequently curious about its mission. This information is now available by telephone, according to Lt. Morse. Citizens may call the helicopter unit at 448-2068 between mid-morning and midnight and talk to helicopter shift members. Personnel are proud of their mission and their accomplishments. Callers will be as pleased with this service as they will be relieved to learn that the helicopter is strictly an anti-crime and public-assistance activity. Equally important to the caller, is that his concern about the night flying helicopter will be eased as he realizes that the protection includes himself.

Grant Pays

The $500,000 helicopter program was developed by the County Sheriff's Department on a $300,000 government grant. The helicopter cost was about $175,000. The annual on-going cost should be less than $75,000, it was said. The life of the helicopter is 10-20 years or more.

San Diego County became the 128th agency in the nation to possess one or more helicopters. In Los Angeles County alone are 16 police helicopter agencies. That is proper because the helicopter concept started in Los Angeles in 1955.

County Is Natural

Lt. Morse said San Diego lends itself to helicopter patrol because of its great area with heavily populated areas interspersed with undeveloped areas. The same amount of ground patrol would be far more expensive, he noted.

An important thing to bear in mind, said Lt. Morse, is that the beat of the rotors is the sound of protection being afforded law-abiding citizens.

Then the helicopter's sound becomes a comforting one — and with easy access to the crew at Gillespie Field by telephone, there should never be any question as to "what's up?"

'Finest City Week' Starts Tomorrow Night

"America's Finest City Week" opens tomorrow evening at 8:30 p.m. in the 15,000 seat Aztec Bowl Football Stadium with a brief welcome by Mayor Pete Wilson, followed by the San Diego Symphony Orchestra playing Aaron Copland's "Hoedown" under the baton of Andre Kostelanetz.

Early arrival for the free concert is urged by general manager Philip A. Whitacre, who said that California State University has granted permission for blanket seating on the grassy football field itself.

Following "Hoedown", Kostelanetz will conduct Gottschalk's "Banjo" and Hershey Kay's "Saturday Night". The three selections will be played without interruption.

The program, entitled "An Americana Spectacular", is devoted entirely to American composers and continues with Alan Hovhaness' "Meditation on Orpheus", which he dedicated to Kostelanetz.

E. G. Marshall, distinguished and popular actor of stage, screen, concert hall and television will narrate "Lincoln Portrait", which Copland dedicated to Kostelanetz.

D & D Committee. Leonard J. Zanville, UCS vice president, heads the PAR Council.

Total amount approved at last week's Board meeting was $263,423, which is $63,423 more than last year's United Crusade distribution to agencies for demonstration or development funds.

Funding of the projects is to start September 1.

A total of 81 projects was submitted to the D & D Committee for evaluation. Dr. Murphy said. Total dollar amount requested was $2,131,211.

The committee eliminated 31 projects in an initial review and 23 in a second phase. Of the second 23, however, the D & D committee urged UCS to find alternate means of financing the programs of nearly half.

The 27 programs recommended for support from designated D & D funds span the entire San Diego County area and affect every age group from infants to senior citizens.

Three of the projects will include the entire county, while most of the remaining projects will be aimed at areas outside the east county.

The three total-county projects are a volunteer youth bureau, an alcoholic rehabilitation program for Indians, and "Project Repair", which will broaden vocational opportunities for women.

The volunteer youth bureau project will allocate $5,000 toward establishing volunteer "mini-bureaus" on high school and college campuses, run by students to recruit other students for volunteer social service work.

The alcoholic rehabilitation program will set up a program with the San Diego Indian Center which will rehabilitate using Indian cultural and tribal methods. $5,000 has been allocated.

"Project Repair" will afford $22,500 to provide on-the-job training for women in vocational skills traditionally held by men, including household repairs.
